

North Wolds Federation Intent Statement

History

Through our history curriculum, we encourage all our children to be curious about the past. We aim to develop an understanding of British history and that of the wider world by using a broad and balanced curriculum which is ambitious, age appropriate, and builds on previous learning.

In the EYFS children touch on history across the curriculum. History is taught as a specific subject from Year One through to Year Six and is adapted where necessary to ensure all children develop knowledge, skills and vocabulary. All children will be given the opportunity to examine, interpret and evaluate a range of historical sources, in order to make their own deductions about the past. Developing vocabulary is a key part of our history curriculum. They will pose their own questions to investigate British, world and local history and the causes of significant historical events, and will begin to link how and why the world has changed, as well as what we can learn from the past to impact their future.

Visitors and school visits will play an important role to develop a deeper understanding of the time periods studied and to inspire the children to a lifelong love of history.
